Short Summary of For Anne Gregory

In this article, you will be reading for Anne Gregory summary. The poem is in the form of a conversation between the poet William Butler Yeats and a young girl Anne Gregory. Here we present For Anne Gregory Summary. The poet tells that if she finds a young boy who may be sad because of her rejection. Then it will not represent that he was a true lover. He might be in love due to her beautiful yellow hair. Therefore, the boy might be in love because of her attractive looks.

According to poet true lover will be the one who will love for the inner qualities and not for looks. Anne says that she will change her looks with hair colour into some other colour and hence she will try to become less attractive. This is because she might get true love for herself. At last, the poet explains to her that according to some religious man, only God loves us for what we are.

Summary of For Anne Gregory in English

The speaker, addressing Anne Gregory, says that her beautiful honey-coloured hair can make any man fall in love with her. This love is not for Anne but for her beautiful external features. Her beautiful hair is compared to wall, symbolising outer beauty. This beauty can capture any man's attention. But he may not be able to look beyond that into Anne's character. So the speaker says that no one can love Anne, for what she is. One can love her only for her beautiful yellow hair and her physical beauty.

Anne replies to the speaker that she can change the colour of her beautiful hair and dye them in black, brown or carrot. She wants to tell the speaker that anyone falling in love with her must see the actual person behind the beauty. She thinks that young men, who fall in love with her, must love her for what she is and not for her yellow hair.

In the last stanza, the speaker replies to Anne about the importance of love for internal beauty not the external one. The speaker talks about an old religious man, who announced that he had found a text in which it is written that only God is capable of looking beyond external beauty. He means that humans do not have the insight and understanding to look into the soul of a person. They are swayed away by the glitter of outer beauty. Therefore, only God can love Anne only for herself and not for her beauty.
